

HAWAII SHINPO THINKS CANNON WELL NICKNAMED

Japanese Newspaper Says
"Uncle Joe" Friend of Children in "Great Melting Pot"

"Uncle Joe" Cannon may be well called "Uncle Joe," the friend of the children in Hawaii's melting pot," writes the Hawaii Shinpo in an interview with the grand old congressman yesterday. Mr. Cannon talked on the Japanese situation in the islands.

"One thing I have learned on this visit above all others," said the lover of children, "is that you Japanese can be assimilated. I find your children to be inspired by the same patriotism which fills the breast of any American child with love for the flag of America."

Representative Cannon told of the profound impression made upon him by the brass band of Japanese, Chinese and native children at Honolulu, Hawaii. He went over the children of many colors singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," after he had finished a little talk to them, and said the love for America was not confined to the shores of the mainland.

"I have met the children of the immigrants of Europe who had lived in America for years, but never did I see children of a foreign race show signs of being Americanized as did those school children of Honolulu."

"Uncle Joe" does not doubt, after visiting the Japanese schools throughout the islands, that the Hawaiian-born Japanese will make true American citizens. He emphasized the importance of home industry in Hawaii, and the necessity for the Japanese of Hawaii to keep the money in the islands for the building up of their homes, their plantation villages and their business. He suggested that more Japanese go into the small farming districts to promote that industry.

ARRANGE LISTS OF TEACHERS FOR THREE ISLANDS

The annual meeting of the school commissioners may come to a close this afternoon if the members complete the appointment of teachers for the coming school year.

This morning the greater part of the time was given over to a consideration of the lists of eligible teachers arranged for the various islands, Maui, Hawaii and Oahu having been gone over. The Kaula appointments were considered at Saturday's meeting. It has been announced by the commission that no names will be made public until all appointments have been made. There also have been a number of special high school appointments.

The board today took under consideration a number of requests from teachers for leaves of absence prior to the closing of the present term. These were refused, however, in order that no precedent be established by the commission. Several requests from teachers who have taken one of the preliminary summer school examinations for leave of absence from this year's summer school were denied.

The board granted several leaves of absence for periods of six months without pay. The matter of appointments is being further taken up this afternoon.

SALVAGE WORK ON SUBMARINE GOING SLOWLY

Placing of Fourth Line Under Stern Proves Difficult Task
—Dragging Continues

Salvage work on the F-4 progressed this morning, but not under the most favorable conditions. The sunken submarine is not lying nearly so advantageously for the passing of lines under her as was the case when she was first located on the ocean floor and it is no easy matter to work the wire and chain cables under the boat. Delays and disappointments are all in the day's work, but there are times when the raising of the vessel seems almost as far away as when the work first commenced.

Rough weather added to the difficulties yesterday and the sweeping operations were in the main unsuccessful. After the three lines already snagged round the sunken boat had been passed to the lifting scows, the two lines on the bow were slackened off and a heavy strain was taken on the line which is holding 14 feet abut the conning tower. Several fathoms of cable came up on the drums, but whether this was real lift, or merely the straightening of the line, is not definitely known. Two attempts to drag another line under the bow and carry it well aft were unsuccessful.

This morning work of dragging was resumed, the tugs working to get a fourth line well aft so that the F-4 may be held in the light of four heavy cables, capable of sustaining her weight evenly when the lifting and shoreward towing is resumed.

There was no diving this morning and none is planned for this afternoon, the diving float remaining at the navy dock. When the four lines are all reported secure, divers will probably be sent down to verify their positions and give information as to whether it is safe to resume lifting operations.

SACRED FALLS OBJECTIVE OF WEEK END HIKE

The Trail and Mountain Club week-end autobus excursion for Saturday and Sunday will be to the Sacred Falls at Hauula and the Punahou trail. This is one of the prettiest sections of the island and the trip will be a popular one.

The party will leave the Promotion Committee rooms at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon (taking blankets and grub for three meals), arriving at Punahou, where camp will be pitched at about 6 o'clock.

Sunday morning after a swim, a tramp along the Punahou trail to Hauula and to the Sacred Falls will be made. The bus will return to town in the afternoon.

Those wishing to make the trip are asked to secure their tickets (price $2.25) from the Hawaii Promotion committee at once.

During the night had burned its way into a portion of the floor.

The police are keeping a close watch on the waterfront and a posse is searching Kalihi and other outlying districts for Yuen Hu Kue, a Korean, who escaped the receiving station while waiting to answer to the charge of robbery and assault with a weapon with intent to commit murder. The man left his cell on Sunday night, leaving the jail compound over a twenty foot wall.
